

WARDEN MESSAGE – August 2, 2004

HOMELAND SECURITY THREAT LEVEL ELEVATED

On August 1st, 2004, the Department of Homeland Security raised the homeland security threat level to orange (high) for the financial services sectors in New York city, Northern New Jersey and Washington, D.C. The threat level for the rest of the nation remains at Yellow (elevated).

For more information from the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), readers may refer to the DHS Internet website at www.dhs.gov.

The Department of State continues to monitor security conditions overseas and, as always, will promptly disseminate information affecting the safety of Americans abroad through its consular information program. These documents are available on the Department's Internet website at www.travel.state.gov.
